Media release

CyberGuru celebrates 18th birthday in July 2015

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Zillmere, Wednesday 8 July 2015

On 15 July 2015, CyberGuru will celebrate our 18th birthday since our commencement. Proprietor/Chief Guru, Christopher (Chris) Jeffery, was just 14 years of age, when he started CyberGuru in 1997 as a hobby whilst at school. Now 18 years on and Chris at 32 years of age, CyberGuru's has grown and developed into a well-respected, trusted and reliable Information Communication and Technology (ICT) consulting and training provider for small businesses and not-for-profit organisations across the northside of Brisbane and surrounding suburbs in Brisbane.

Chris began his business out of his interest in computers and empowering small businesses and not-for-profit organisations to take advantage of them to their full potential. From CyberGuru's earliest beginnings, Chris prided himself on providing award-winning, professional and affordable computer solutions. CyberGuru's mantra is to "empower, educate and enable computer users to do that all is possible, with excellence in all we do".

Chris' work has been awarded through numerous accolades over the years, including winner of the Young ICT Professional of the Year in 2012 by the Australian Computer Society Queensland Branch and winner of the Intel Australia On-line Awards Website Competition in 1999. Further, Chris also been nominated (for the second year in a row) for the Lord Mayor's Business Awards for Young Business Person of the Year.

CyberGuru also supports a range of local community projects through working with a range of not-for-profit organisations in the area including the SANDBAG Sandgate Community Centre and the Nundah Activity Centre.

CyberGuru provides award-winning, professional and affordable computer solutions to small businesses, not-for-profit organisations and individuals in consulting, design, support and training. Chris has qualifications in Business and Information Systems as well many computer applications including Microsoft Windows and Microsoft Office 365. He also delivers ICT professional development and training courses to larger organisations, as well as primary and secondary school and vocational education and training (VET) teachers.

For more information on CyberGuru and our services, please visit www.cyberguru.com.au.

For interviews and other information, please contact:
Chris Jeffery
Proprietor/Chief Guru
CyberGuru
Phone: 0488 80 GURU (4878)
Email: cyberguru@cyberguru.com.au

Winner: Australian Computer Society Queensland Young ICT Professional of the Year 2012